STATEMENT:

I've lived the last 23 years between Ireland and Spain and found that it's been a nutritive element in my response to Painting.

My subject matter is bound up in a personalized vision, which is based on my understanding of nature and self.

Painting, for me, is an exploratory and emotive response to the world I inhabit and as such I try to capture this as an event in all its various guises and provoke it to a level where it becomes a metaphor or allegory to life itself.
